

TOGETHER
bearing fruit that will last

"As a new member I can honestly say that seeing the way the older people in the congregation embrace the younger generations

was a big part of our decision to stick around – it is a huge strength of UPC."

- Ed Soccorso

Our Campus Ministry is a place where students are invited to "Believe, Belong and Become." Several students over the years have made their vocations in the work of the church.

"[The retreat] reminded me how those people are the same ones I worship

with every Sunday morning and that those same people have lives similar to mine with highs and lows, joy and sorrow, struggles with faith in everyday life, and strengths that help us overcome those struggles."

-Mike Edmiston

Together we balance our "inward journey" of spiritual formation with our "outward journey" of extending compassion and love to one another, in our community and in the world beyond, like the inhale and exhale of the same breath.

"The DC trip really helped me understand how fortunate I am and how so many people in this world don't get the same opportunities....It made me realize that we need change and how to change it for the better by volunteering."

-Bella Moshier

“YOU DID NOT CHOOSE ME, BUT I CHOSE YOU AND APPOINTED YOU SO THAT YOU MIGHT GO AND BEAR FRUIT - fruit that will last.” John 15:16

"We are all walking God's path together no matter who we are, how old we are, or what we appear to be on the outside."

-Mary Bozynski

Our congregation is diverse and dynamic, and all are welcome. Together we build relationships that add vitality to our nurturing church home.

"The church is its people...

and we have a real hunger for interacting more with our fellow church members."

-Mark Peifer

The collective gifts and effort of our staff and congregants allow UPC to offer strong preaching, beautiful music, and a variety of ministries and opportunities for all members and those we are called to serve.

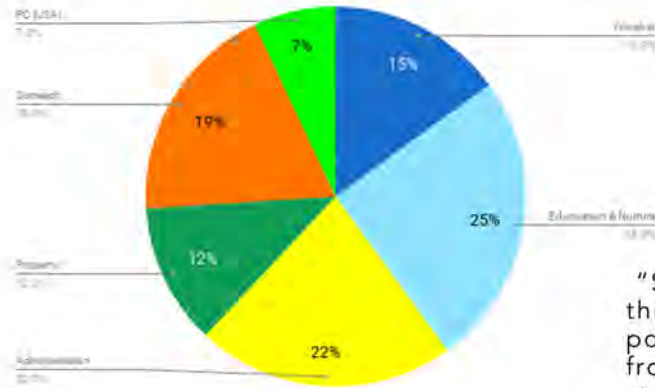

"Children and youth are priceless members of the community, bringing both their enthusiasm and fresh, new outlooks. Young adults bring their world into the mix, unafraid to ask the hard questions. And of course, the older crowd can enhance the conversation with their wisdom and historical knowledge."

-Mary Ellen Olson

2018 OPERATING BUDGET

WILL YOU JOIN US?

“Some have said this church is poised to move from strength to strength in the season ahead; I confess I have an additional hope. I hope, indeed I expect, that you are poised to let the Crucified One draw you still closer to himself, that you might abide ever more deeply in the one who emptied himself, that you might become still more vulnerable to the love that lays down its life for the sake of the world.”

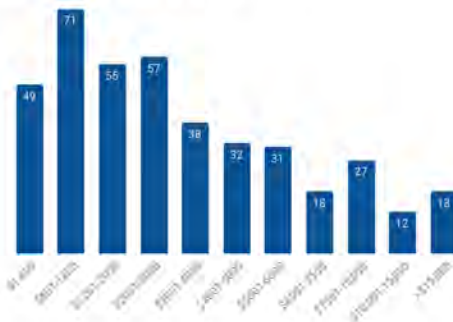

—REV. ELIZABETH MICHAEL, FROM HER FAREWELL SERMON, “LOVE THAT ABIDES,” PREACHED AT UNIVERSITY PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH ON MAY 13, 2018
